Every now and then I think about you Wondered how I'd ever live without you Whenever I think I figured it out my reasons turn to shame so I wash em down forget it now I wanted you to stay but I watched myself fall away from you So lay me down if you're broken hearted and let the sunlight shine in I'll hold you close if I think you're falling so we won't burn out in the end I still have your pictures I still wonder how you are I've heard about you and how you fell apart and I know you've been wasting for so long now and I'm sorry that I did nothing to turn you around I just watched myself (watched myself) fall away from you lay me down if you're broken hearted and let the sunlight shine in I'll hold you close if I think you're falling so we won't burn out in the end Shouldn't I learn a thing or two shouldn't I wake up next to you shouldn't I be the one that said to hold you hold you shouldn't I shouldn't I shouldn't I shouldn't I hold you hold you lay me down if you're broken hearted and let the sunlight shine in I'll hold you close if I think you're falling so we won't burn out in the end lay me down if you're broken hearted and let the sunlight shine in I'll hold you close if I think you're falling so we won't burn out in the end in the end lay me down if you're broken hearted
