It came without warning
There were tears that filled the sky
Then in the darkness I saw light
And a vision of tomorrow
My pain and fear had taken flight
On a light that painted as it glowed

I heard three angels' voices
And the tolling of a bell
Then in the darkness I heard song
And the music of tomorrow
My pain and fear had taken flight
On a song that echoed soft and low

There in the night
Let the madness take flight
Let the vision and light
Surround you
There in the night
Let the madness take flight
Let song of the muse
Define you
