I'll tell you, confidentially
I'll give you my word
Don't believe anything you have heard

December, December
Remember my name
Your ice and your sleet and my heart are the same
It's cold, cold, cold since my love has left me
December, December is my name

I'm not the same
And she's to blame
I can't just start over again

My heart stopped, in wintery chill
I nearly died
But my love keeps burning still

A promise will be broken, a lie becomes truth
Sinners become legends, disregard all the proof
Love's not so sacred where I'm coming from What's working for someone's not working for some
