What if flowers grew everytime we smiled.
And teardrops resembled all of the happy moments
What if humans cared about other humans.
Leaving no definition for selfish secrets

Dreams are a single notion.
IÂ'll be what I believe
Lost in another worldÂ's reality

Heartbreak happens when love is in a battle
Why does someone have to become the loser.
What if humans cared about other humans
Leaving no definition for selfish secrets

Who survives of the leaning into something else that is so much better, so much better, so much better
