I wish I could wake up,
This would all be over, but I have to face the things I'e done I'm sick of running out of excuses Chorus:
my excuses hae become something I'm not something I've fought so all these lies have torn me apart but now i see so much more of me and how i let you come undone come undone
I want you to know I'm giving up this time around I know it doesn't build your trust with me (chorus)
I know it will take some time to heal from what I've done I'm sorry I let you down but I'm human, only human, yea we're human and sometimes we become something we're not something we've fought all these lies have torn us apart but now i see so much more than me and how I let you come undone
come undone
