I took a bus out to Sag harbor found me a still and quiet place into the woods to play some notes on my guitar and think of things I can't erase I'm affected in a meaningful way
I never expected it to be that way
I hope that you can be here and stay I don't even understand these days
As the ocean breeze gets cold I think of indecisiveness
And how its actions are so sudden I don't want to just be the guy who filled all of the requirements
Sometimes in late July
I lie awake at night
or dream of ships blown in the wind
my friend I tell you
there is much more than this life
can't you feel it in your skin
I watched the breeze come over the bay
I played some quiet chords
I thought about how much your life has changed
And the ever fighting shore
Are you affected in a meaningful way?
Do you expect it to be that way ?

Do you hope that you can be here and stay?

Do you even understand these days?
Sometimes in late July

I lie awake at night

or dream of ships blown in the wind
my friend I tell you

there is much more than this life

can't you feel it in your skin
and sometimes you ask me do I know my God is real?

I hope I answer without words Jesus' love has conquered death so I can live

Can you see that when you look into my eyes?
