It's not that I dont care
It's just that i've been there
Many times, I've seen it all before
You might think I'm lazy
The truth is that I'm crazy
A million times
I hear what you say
Not anymore, no not today

You barely even know me
So why dont you go and show me
How do???

Sometimes when your sleeping
I swear il hear you weeping
God knows about what you say
Don't care, it doesnt matter anyway

Next time I see you (see you)
Will you just turn and walk away
Next time I hear you (hear you)
Will you just find something sane to say

It's getting late now
No patience away now
You know life wasnt meant for you
You remember all those stories
About morning glories
They've past just like a summer day
Like our love, it slowly fades away

Next time I see you (see you)
Will you just turn and walk away
Next time I hear (hear you)
Will you just find something sane to say

So we go
Thinking it's all aright
But we know
I dont put up a fight
When your gone
When your gone

Next time I see you (next time I see you)
Will you just turn and walk away
Next time I hear you (next time I hear you)
Will you just find something sane to say

Next time I see you (next time I see you)
Will you just turn and walk away
Next time I hear you (next time I hear you)
Will you just find something sane to say

Next time I hear you (next time I hear you)
Will you just find something sane to say
Next time I see you (Next time I, Next time I)
Will you just turn and walk away
