How did we get so far away Maybe we moved too fast and Maybe the love in the photograph was lost among the path and maybe we lost track of who we are if only I had known and maybe the lines drawn in the sand are pointing the way back home

Whoaaa, whoaaa

Memories behind the broken glass the dreams we used to have are fading but don't throw it away
throw it away

Now the frame has crashed standing on a shattered past this picture will last

I don't make many promises I take them to heart
So I meant what I said when I took Your hand I'll finish what I start

Whoaaa, whoaaa

are fading but don't
throw it away
throw it away

Now the frame has crashed

Though the good times come and go the promises remain So I'll stand with You through the fire and the flames oh the good times come and go these promises remain

Memories behind the broken glass
are fading but don't
throw it away
throw it away

Now the frame has crashed

are fading but don't
throw it away
throw it away
