I'm so tired of everything that I am, breaking promises to myself while I pretend, Writing letters in my mind that I'll never send, no it's useless

And take back now everything that I said to you, my heart's getting colder every second without you, just because I look ok doesn't mean that I'm not dying

Dead weight falls off as I die to myself, and I'd give my life for you
Even when I looked way, you never turned your back on me

And I'm so tired of never wanting to change, ten years now and every time it's the same Writing songs in my heart that I'll never sing

And take back now all the years that I was insane, running circles in this house forgetting your name, just because I fall apart doesn't mean that I'm not trying

Dead weight falls off as I die to myself, and I'd give my
life for you
me

Even when you looked away, you never turned your back on me
Even when you looked away, you never turned

And I'd give my life for you, I'd give my life for you And I'd give my life for you, I'd give my life for you And I'd give my life for you, I'd give my life for you And I'd give my life for you, I'd give my life for you
