There is this darkness in my mind
Sometimes it feels as if I'm blind
But now I try to leave it behind

I turn my eyes back forward- To see something new
I turn my eyes back forward- To see maybe you

When I change my view I change my life

Yesterday's darkness now seems so far away
- I'll never look back again
And today I realize that I did betray myself
- I'll never look back again

I've found my happiness again
I've found my happiness again
I've found my happiness again

But now I fear
That my happiness could someday fade away
I do my best now to conserve it
Although I know that it won't help
I keep on trying
O God, I'll surely hate this day

But then
I'll turn my eyes back forward
- To see something new
I'll turn my eyes back forward- To see maybe you

When I change my life I change the world

Yesterday's darkness now seems so far away
- I'll never look back again
And today I realize that I did betray myself
- I'll never look back again

I've found my happiness again
I've found my happiness again
I've found my happiness again

There's been this darkness in my mind

Sometimes I thought I would be blind
But in the end I've left it behind

I turned my eyes back forward- To see something new
I turned my eyes back forward- To see maybe you

When I change my mind I change the world
