A Little more time, I wonder
As I fall down on my knees
A little more time, I wonder
As get back up on my feet
And I stop to hear the thunder
And I know that all I need
Is just a little more , little more time
To breathe and get back to being me
I got to take a minute now
Hit pause and unwind can't remember yesterday
Cos I never get to settle down
Yeah I'm running all the time
And I can hear my momma say

A little more time, I wonder
As I fall down on my knees
A little more time, I wonder
Wil I get back up on my feet
And I stop to hear the thunder
And I know that all I need
Is just a little more little more time
To breathe and get back to being me

See my brother falling down
And he's living in pain
I wanna make it go away
Though its hard to see the future now
We all know it's got to change
And I can here my momma say

A Little more time, I wonder
As I fall down on my knees
A little more time, I wonder
As get back up on my feet
And I stop to hear the thunder
And I know that all I need
Is just a little more, little more time
To breathe and get back to being me

And people talking bout the world and how
Its gonna end
But they don't really know the trouble that we're getting in

And late at night I'm on my knees
I hear my momma pray
And she keeps praying for the light to show a better way
I see my brother falling down
I want to give a hand
But sometimes falling downs the only way to understand
And giving up was never part of me or who I am
And that's that's why I keep holding on

A Little more time, I wonder
As I fall down on my knees
A little more time, I wonder
As get back up on my feet
And I stop to hear the thunder
And I know that all I need
Is just a little more, little more time
To breathe and get back to being me
