its never taken
so long
the drive home
from misunderstanding new feelings trying to ignor blessed rest in disregard searching for someone who will finally care there was a time when i'd bear the world, my heart it took someone like you to rip my world apart in this empty room silence will come soon I can see the memorys in my scars
I pray Godspeed
on your journey to find peace hope i played some part in the grand scheme when your restless mind leaves you weary hold on to the truth you know i'm starting to see
