I remember a time when truth reflected in your eyes joy's black tears rained down where are they now beliefs kept you from knowing but you'll forget everything for that taste of pain you crave
"caring"; a forgotten memory your loved ones
having to watch you die you bear a strong resemblance of someone i dont recognize suffocating,
choking on your own life freedom is only found in letting go
i pray you'd see the pain you caused these 5 inch spikes inflicted go on, turn your back on his sacrifice its killing me to watch you run away from the love shared, so long ago I gave you the world
I was every thing to you I carried the darkness
this is my blood you've buried it all dig so deep, trying to get away from these cares My heart bleeds for you to finally know true love
