Every Step
(Album:Sandra Pires)

There are flowers in their bloom sunlight in my room movies I have yet to see still each night ends with the dawn the world keeps spinning on but nothing feels the same since every morning you call my name

Every step along the way I shower you with pleasure the more I give
the more I get the more you make me treasure all the love that I had to miss the magic of a bliss
that has come along to stay why should we fear tomorrow
this love is today

there is always an excuse from love or hate we choose funny how ones life can change little things I have to do while I'm away from you but love will rule the day when every morning you call my name

What if I never met you what if we never tried what if we never burned up this emotion to a flame nothing feels the same - oh
