

Southbound Fearing "Miles"

We learn how to run
We never stop to ask you where to go
We wonder we lost
The fire that drove us here

We're miles away from where we started
But we can't seem to find a way
We're hours away, we're falling apart, Lord
Won't you deliver me?

Passion is a funny thing
It drive us to love and to betray
How do we discern between
What is wrong and what we know is right

We're miles away from where we started
But we can't seem to find a way
We're hours away, we're falling apart, Lord
Won't you deliver me, deliver me?

We're miles away from where we started
But we can't seem to find a way
We're hours away, we're falling apart, Lord
Won't you deliver me, deliver me, deliver me?
