Verse 1

I wrote a song in the pouring rain
An album when I went insane
A tune bad blood in my veins
I wrote a song about the late Kurt Cobain

I wrote a song for 10 million Jews
Who never understood my point of view
An album for all the Hebrews
But I never wrote a song about you.

Chorus

I wrote a song about everything but you
La-la-la
I wrote a song about everything, that's true
But I never wrote a song about you.

Verse 2

I wrote a song my critics hate
A half-star, me they rate
A tune about my early grave
But you always said I was great.

I wrote a hundred songs the same year
Songs of love, songs of fear
Got rejected, I always cared
But I never wrote about you, my dear.

Bridge

This is my last blast
It hurts so bad when I play this fast
Got no future, it's all past
Hold me as I breathe my last.

Verse 3

I wrote a song from the brink of pain

A record to corrupt your brain
A tune that gave me the blame
I had a good hour of my fame.

I wrote a song on the tilt-a-whirl
Got so sick, I had to hurl
Played it loud as the flag unferled
But I never wrote about you, my girl
