Morning sun sets another day lights up my world ten shades of gray i find no strength i've lost it all no one's around when i take the fall day by day all moulded gray it's all the same not much to say you spoke to me with silvertongue spoke of times to come as past begun tope my soul with velvet lies then buried trust under pale bruised skies

i'm on my own
i can't count anymore on you
i'm on my own
all the lies that you told i've seen through

i can't take another day
all the colours turned to gray i'm leaving everything behind i'm so fed up there's nothing more to find walls closing in on who i used to be whithin my mind rage roaming free insomiac state of inebriety turned my back on whats sanity

i'm on my own...

i'm on my own leaving everything behind so fed up there's nothing more to...find i'm leaving evrything behind...

i'm on my own
i'm on my own
all my doubts has come true
i'm on my own

i'm on my own
