I wanna hear your sad sad voice come to me loud and clear
I wanna hear your lips and tongue form the words no ears should hear
And I wanna watch you while your face reddens with fear
And watch your eyes get all clouded up with tears
This thing is such a stupid mess
So nuts you never would have guessed
You better watch yourself
Your words just tell Watching your sundress just blowing in the breeze
This time of year I want to breathe but I just sneeze
And the sunshine is just killing me my degrees
And I go to smell the roses just to get stung by the bees
Your words just free me day by day
You better watch the things you say Button your lip
Your tongue just slips
I don't need to read about myself in other towns
I don't want to hear all you have seen or what you've found
And when you turn for the second go around Just keep your mouth shut and your ear down to the ground
