The story takes place in a libertine atmosphere
Where the walls couldn't get any closer to the situation

Staring characters with abnormal standards
I can already see you telling me it's going nowhere
For everyone's misfortune, let me assure you
Something dreadful like an exchange of perfume
May make minds meet in this maze

It is all about confidence
This naïve reality reminds me
To be aware, to be aware of fiction

In this wave
Where you can't handle a simple stare
You'll soon face the truth
Neither glass nor mirror can hide
The blood gorging your eyes
And this is all you deserved

Trusting fantasy
Has been my biggest mistake
And reality
My cruelest friend

It is all about confidence
This naïve reality reminds me
To be aware, to be aware of fiction

When the importance of reasoning becomes
A prey of disregard you can feel
A brand new breath to melancholy

All about confidence
This naïve reality reminds me
To be aware, to be aware of fiction
