Suddenly my defenses are down
Blindsided by my own curiosity
Now the enemy is attacking all around
My heart is pounding through my chest
And there's no way that I can get my rest tonight God save me! Give me your truth so I can stand up once again
Keep me prepared so I can have a peace within
I look out on this battlefield, the one I call my life
I can see that you're my strongest ally in this fight
Yeah, I'm praying on the armor, Lord
And already I feel strong
Yeah, my fear has begun its drifting
Because you've been here all along
