Things are so different here all truths seem to dissappear and who you were doesn't matter my point is a better view make me look beautiful and every face same old story CHORUS

In hollywood , hollywood every sunrise you get so close every sunset an overdose no one cares but everybody knows bask in someone else's fame live off of the family name and who you are is all that matters its so hard being young today dior ads and pink cocaine you'll go far for doing nothing

everybody wants to be someone everybody wants to be someone else and if you're down they'll hand you a shot gun just get me out , get me out of hollywood

hollywood
every sunrise you get so close

get me out x 6
