You're a little obsessed with me
And I'm a little bit scared of you
The way you look and stare at me
Maybe it's time I let you know

You can call me six times
But still I won't pick up the phone
You can spend all your money on me
But still I'll say no

You can write a million letters everyday
Confessing to me

That I am the girl of your dreams
But nobody ever asked me
I never looked at you that way
'Cause I always thought you were gay

Everytime you come around
You just look me up and down
And then you try to hold my hand
I'm confused now, I don't understand

You can call me six times
But still I won't pick up the phone
You can spend all your money on me
But still I'll say no

You can write a million letters everyday
Confessing to me

That I am the girl of your dreams
But nobody ever asked me
I never looked at you that way
'Cause I always thought you were gay

You told me lies, you made me believe
It would be fine if there was nothing to see
I'd be undressing in front of you
I told you secrets that no one else knew

You can call me six times

But still I won't pick up the phone
You can spend all your money on me
But still I'll say no

You can write a million letters everyday
Confessing to me

That I am the girl of your dreams
But nobody ever asked me
I never looked at you that way
'Cause I always thought you were gay
