I thought Iâ€™d vanished from the face of the Earth,
I started screaming for all I was worth,
You found me lying at the foot of a hill,
If it wasnâ€™t for you, Iâ€™d be lying there still.

It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
Comes down to you.

You brought the ground up under my feet, (you understand what Iâ€™ve been through) When you touched me I felt a soothing heat, (you gave me feelings I never knew) Put me in motion, my wheels on the street, (you changed my view)
Yeah, you started something I know youâ€™ll complete,
(comes down to you)

It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (if I make it though, it comes down to you)
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (if I make it though, it comes down to you)
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (what would I do now...)
It comes down to you, (if I didnâ€™t have you?)
It comes down to you, (someone tell me)
It comes down to you.

And if I make it though, it comes down to you.

When you touched me I thought Iâ€™d never survive,
(you lit my flame with only a spark)
I started this journey and I will arrive, (you brought the flame back into the dark)
I am a passenger who thought he could drive, (you set me aside and gave me your mark)

Once I was dead, but now Iâ€™m alive,
I am alive.

It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (if I make it though, it comes down to you)
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (if I make it though, it comes down to you)
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (if I make it though, it comes down to you)
It comes down to you,
It comes down to you, (if I make it though, it comes down to you)
It comes down to you.
