"What Would You Say"

I lost my love last week to distance and higher learning,
All of these things out of my control.
No I won't let myself lead an existence of endless
moping,
Hoping, wishing, for her kissing, on my neck,
So what the heck I do now?
Yeah we're still really good friends,
But that's where it ends, woah, woah,
Gotta learn how to love her,
Less like a lover, more like a brother.
And I know things got kinda lame, that wasn't my aim,
From the start now.
Where are you going with my heart?

And if somehow I could change things,
And make things, just how she wanted them,
Then would you stay with me? Be straight with me.
What would you say to me?

What if I took it all away?
What would you say to me?
So there's no reason you can't stay?
What would you say to me?
What if I took it all away?
What would you say to me?
So there's no reason you can't stay?
What would you say to me?

Somebody once said to me,
If you love something, set it free.
Gotta help me to see, does this apply to me?
Am I just a victim of philosophy now?
And I know things got kinda lame, that wasn't my aim,
From the start now.
Where are you going with my heart?

And if somehow I could change things,
And make things, just how she wanted them,
Then would you stay with me? Be straight with me.
What would you say to me?

What if I took it all away?
What would you say to me?
So there's no reason you can't stay?
What would you say to me?
What if I took it all away?
What would you say to me?
So there's no reason you can't stay?
What would you say to me?

Somedays I'm feelin' like a winner,
Somedays a lounge singer,
In some depressing club in,
Las Vegas, fate has separated us,
If I could beat destiny,
What would you say to me? What would you say to me?
So there's no reason you can't stay?
What would you say to me?
What if I took it all away?
What would you say to me?
So there's no reason you can't stay?
What would you say to me?
