Spent a lot of money, spent a lot of me
Just putting my back against the wall
I was chasing shadows, that I thought were meant to be
No one there to catch me if I fall

Now I have a new chance, to find a fuse deep inside
me
And why would I want to dance alone
When You've been there beside me

This time, His time is all around me
This time, His time is there to surround me

Tried to see so many things, from standing far away
Tried to find a place to call my home
Ever since I realized, let go of yesterday
Cause I wasn't really mine to own...this time

Of all the plans I made and all the times alone
Wasn't any reason to recall
The seasons that would fade, the seeds that I had sewn
Would never bring me anything at all....this time

All I ever have to do is ask you to come in And join me in this dance today
Everything that I could find
To plant inside my worried mind
Was just taken far away

Now I have a new chance, to find a fuse deep inside
me
And why would I want to dance alone
When You've been there beside me

This time.
