She's faced the hardest times you could imagine, any many times her eyes fought back the tears and when her youthful world was about to fall is each time her slender shoulders, bore the weight of all her fears and a sorrow no one hears still rings in midnight silence in her ears

Chorus: Let her cry, for she's a lady, let her dream for she's a child, let the rain fall down upon her, she's a free and gentle flower, growing wild and if by chance i should hold her, let me hold her for a while, but if allowed just one possession, i would pick her from the garden to be mine, ummmm

be careful how you touch her, for she'll awaken, and sleeps the only freedom that she knows, and when you walk into her eyes, you won't believe how she's always paying, for a debt she never owes, and a silent wind still blows that only she can hear and so she goes

Chorus: x2

she's a flower, growing wild she's free
