

Whiskey Saints "She's The Lonely Heart"

Visit "She's The Lonely Heart" on MotoLyrics.com

Thought it'd be
More than a train wreck fantasy
Strung back out of my life that she consumed
I hate this scene
I just stare at walls and TV screens
And the only lonely girl in this room

But I'll make time 'cause we both know
Without this we don't stand a chance
And even though I'll break her heart
There's something sweet in sad romance

It's a sin
She spent all my money now I'm broke again
Messed up ready to come back waging war
She's just scared
Been around for years but I've dared
To face doubt, throw her out and lock the door

But I'll make time 'cause we both know
Without this we don't stand a chance
And even though I'll break her heart
There's something sweet in sad romance

It won't be long
Until she finds out that I'm really gone
And what she was waiting for
She had with me

Visit Whiskey Saints page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.