I'm tired of talk
It always ends up like this
Weary conversation
How many wars started with a kiss?
You tell me,
It's just another day
Tomorrow I won't be this way, but Every day it's getting harder
Eden is empty, paradise lost and Heavens put up a vacancy sign.

In this cold room
Your kisses on my face like rain
And you felt that Nothing would ever ease the pain
Will it be forever a move away
Like a stranger in a foreign land
Put your hand against my skin
When all the birds are torn from the sky
Let me love you
As the seasons pass you by.

I could talk to you for eternity but I'm tired of talk
Rain chasing shadows for a fool
Forever a move away.
