All I do is lie, by the ocean side
Why do the clouds turn gray just for you
I've never bloomed such a beautiful blues

Step outside your door, and go down to the shore
Why do your eyes feel like shells in a dune?
What makes a crowd turn away from a tune?

I've never bloomed such a beautiful blues

Even the tide gets high at night
Even the truth is wrong sometimes

All I want to do is dig a hole with you
Feet are no stranger to the undertow
Wind won't decide which way to blow

But we will never leave,
We're all that's left for me
This is a home we just don't gave a door
Euphoria is a risk on the floor

Even the tide gets high at night
Even the truth is wrong sometimes

Why knew that love was a beautiful blues?
Who knew that love was a dangerous drug?
Now I know that love is a beautiful drug
I know that drug is a dangerous love is a Dangerous
Blues
I know now that love is a dangerous blues
