one thousand nights slowly losing my mind this pain dont end wish i could hit rewind i see your face and i feel your tender touch just cant explain girl i miss you so damn much just like a rainbow or like my shadow you seem so real but fade away. im gonna go crazy is what they all say you're gone and that cant ever change.

but i cant live without you, without you my love
i just cant live without you my love.
tell me what will i do now without you my love wont you answer or please my sweet love.

my darkest times you knew just what to do when i was lost only you could see me through them perfect words to boost my self esteem still hear your voice you whispered in my dream you said my sweet love enjoy life because this world needs people to believe you told me baby always be happy ill be with you eternally

i just cant live without you my love.
wont you answer or please my sweet love.

its been so long since you've been gone seems i cant move on my love still i pray one day i will find my way even though i say that i cant live without you my love.

i just cant live without you my love.
wont you answer or please my sweet love.

now i promise ill try hard to get through my life coz i know thats what youd want my love.

take all life throws and deal with it one at a time make you proud of me oh my sweet love.
