Angels of death sent his disease
Seas turns to blood and there's wrath in the breeze
God's fire burned those from evil descent
Darkening skies until the end

Evil thoughts carried through the night
Dark lies whispered in the morning sun
Chaos breeds in the belly of truth
Delivered from the womb of holiness
From all goodness evil shall be born
Hell will arise to slay thee holy ones

The angel of death sent his disease
Seas turned to blood and there's wrath in the breeze
God's fire burned those from evil descent
Darkening skies until the end

I'm the last candle in the night, a puppet of destiny
(I go with) tottering steps to the gates of eternity
Shadows will rise and the nightfall will entice us.

But I'll find the key to the paradise I thought was lost

Try to mock me with thine virtuous life
Saints shall cry while thou slowly die
Thy light is fading slowly away
Thy tears shall fall in a sanguine rain
With sword and lash I'll lead thee on Thy own gravedigger thou will become

The angel of death sent his disease
Seas turned to blood and there's wrath in the breeze
God's fire burned those from evil descent
Darkening skies until the end

I'm the last candle in the night, a puppet of destiny
(I go with) tottering steps to the gates of eternity
Shadows will rise and nightfall will entice us.
But I'll find the key to the paradise I thought was lost
