When I cannot see at all
When I cannot scream your name
I believe there's something more to what you explain
In the time it takes to break
What happens here it won't break these chains we've made
When we can altogether run
And trip on what's perceived and long for a better way out

{Chorus}

Open the door and I'll wave you goodbye
It's been hard enough knowing you're my demise
Blinded by my sense of misfortune
Your face telling lies with mistakes in disguise

In a world that seeks out lies
I fall into a certain page
And accept the faults I've done
Find strength to carry one
In the time it takes to break
What happens here it won't break these chains we've
made
To carry on

{Chorus}

Do you think you're an angel inside?
You think you're an angel in sight

{Chorus}

Do you think you're an angel inside?
You think you're an angel in sight
