

Aliz@e"Hating Every Minute"Visit "Hating Every Minute" on MotoLyrics.com

Sit down, please make yourself comfortable...
I might need some time
To dance around what I need to say,
I love you to death, I think I need a break.

I spend my days worried out loud,
I gag in my head, I choke it back down.
It hurts me inside to save you inside,
So close my lips tight, move eyes to the side.

This is the way we disappear.
It's easy if you burnout like a star.
This is the way we disappear.
It's easy like a fifty foot fall.

I'm waiting, for whatever better time...
To evict these words that have rented out my mind.
And I'm hating every minute that I don't speak aloud,
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down

Relax on this bed of nails on this plastic sheet, your blood leaves a trail
Right back to me.
A problem you see.
Would you please allow a moment to think?

This is the way we disappear.
It's easy if you burnout like a star.
This is the way we disappear.
It's easy like a fifty foot fall.

I'm waiting, for whatever better time...
To evict these words that have rented out my mind.
And I'm hating every minute that I don't speak aloud,
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down

