So this is the part where I say, "Were better off as friends."

I can almost feel your tears dripping down my cheeks
But can't you see? I did it all for you

Yeah, I did it all for you.

I've never heard such empty words, your poison lips
they even taste of him

I'm watching you're mascara run. As if it justifies the damage that you've done

Is this our chance to breathe? A second chance to see that everything is happening way too fast. I only hope you know that I would give you my heart, for a second chance to take it back.

So how do you gauge beauty? How do you gauge lust, when life is all about losing control. Reach for the stars.
We all need something to hold on to.

Dead Stars. Dead Eyes.

I wish I didn't love you now. I wish I didn't need you now.

I wish I didn't love you now.

Because I keep hurting myself because of you.

Is this our chance to breathe? A second chance to see that everything is happening way too fast. I only hope you know that I would give you my heart, for a second chance to take it back.
