Every second, every minute, every day I was lost Didn't understand which road to take
By the time that I'd answer one question in mind Another one's ready to takes its place
People always tried to give me some kind of advice
It never made any difference really
And then I turned around to find the answer to life
And saw your eyes looking back at me

I was taken, far away from, everything that ever felt so real to me
I just stood there, staring at you, that's when I knew that the answer had come to me Now im falling, Through the same thing, that had made me feel the way I had never felt
All my thoughts just, disappear and wanna speak now
but the words wont come to me

I know that I want to feel you alive
I know that I want to breathe you inside
I know that I want to make you mine
I know that I'll never ever say bye

Now every second, every minute, every day I am found Didn't understand which path to take
By the time that I'd answer one question of yours, one more was ready by deceit People always tried to show me what wasn't there It never made any sense really
And then I turned around to find the answer and cure Saw your door closing down on me

I was taken, far away from, everything that ever felt so
real to me
I just stood there, staring at you, that's when I knew
that the answer had come to me
Now im falling, Through the same, that had made me feel the way I had never felt
All my thoughts just, disappear and wanna speak now
but the words wont come to me

I know that I want to feel you alive

I know that I want to breathe you inside
I know that I want to make you mine
I know that Iâ€™ll never ever say bye

I know that I want it, know that I want it to be mine
