"Lovin' In Vain"

I still want your lovin', and I still need your lovin', but I can't live a life of lovin' in vain
Last night I saw you walking, talking with another, all the hurt you tell her, our love don't mean a thing
And as I walked away, dear, my heart broke down inside me
I still want your lovin', and I still need your lovin', but I can't live a life of lovin' in vain
I'd rather be a poor girl, not a penny to my name, than to know my life would all be lived in vain I'd rather be alone, dear, if you don't want to change
I still want your lovin', and I still need your lovin', but I can't live a life of lovin' in vain
I still want your lovin', and I still need your lovin', but I can't live a life of lovin' in vain
