

Cline Patsy

"Today, Tomorrow, And Forever"

Visit "Today, Tomorrow, And Forever" on MotoLyrics.com

How warm is the love in my heart for you? As warm as the sun in a sky of blue

How long will it shine if you say you're mine? Today, tomorrow, and forever

How strong was my love from the very start? How long will it last in my happy heart?

How much would I cry if we'd ever part? Today,
tomorrow, and forever

'Cause if you weren't there to share my love, who cares
if the sky should fall?

For anyone can see how much you mean to me, you're my life, my love, my very own

And as long as the tides of the ocean flow, as long as the trees and the flowers grow

So long, oh my love, will I love you so, today, tomorrow,
and forever

'Cause if you weren't there to share my love, who cares
if the sky should fall?

For anyone can see how much you mean to me, you're
my life, my love, my very own

And as long as the tides of the ocean flow, as long as
the trees and the flowers grow

So long, oh my love, will I love you so, today, tomorrow,
and forever,

today, tomorrow, and forever

Visit Cline Patsy page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
