I sleep and dream and I dream and sleep and I still wake up alone

Then I wash my face and I dress my body and I wander through this home

Nothing feels the same and nothing tastes the same it's as if someone replaced all that was real

I feel so animated
I feel so irritated I don't even know what I feel cuz all is lost - Everything burns

cuz all is lost - Everything burns
cuz all is lost - Everything burns I close the door behind me and I face the street before me And all trails end at your front step

So I walk the walk and I plan the talk
And there seems no end to this

We were moving backward We were moving forward we were moving mountains in the rain It seemed so simple and yet it's so complicated that I don't even know just what I want anymore

cuz all is lost - Everything burns
cuz all is lost - Everything burns
cuz all is lost - Everything burns We walk and talk and we finally stop And we see all that we can see so now we're one to one and we're tongue to tongue while I'm falling at your feet and I close my eyes and I take the leap and I fall just like a stone and I sleep and dream
