As I look out through my window

I can see the morning dew

And the people seem so happy

I wish that I could, too

But my life's become so blue, so blue, so blue

If you get a real good woman

Be sure to treat her right

Or someone else will take her

Away from you one night

From the arms that held her tight, held her tight, held her tight

Take good care of my baby

That's all I ask of you

Take good care of my baby

And then, I won't feel blue

No matter what you do, what you do, what you do

[guitar solo (Pete Ham)]

I think I've learned my lesson

But now, the time's too late

Someone else has got my baby

Someone else is feeling great

I sit all day and wait, sit and wait, sit and wait

As I think about the good times

Feel tears come to my eyes

Times when I could make her happy

Just to be right by my side

Gotta make you realize, realize, realize

Take good care of my baby

That's all I ask of you

Take good care of my baby

And then, I won't feel blue

Take good care of my baby

That's all I ask of you

Take good care of my baby

Ahhhhhhhhhhhhh

Ahhhhhhhhhhhhh.
