Well the last thing on your mind,
Was to hide the pain inside.
But the days are growing closer and you're running out of time

When something's on your mind,
I try to break inside.
You know I never could get closer
Am I wasting my time?

And you are not the same
As before and
We're all to blame

So far from home, from all you've known
Well it ain't over til its over
So far to go, with nothing to show.
But it ain't over til its over

You're hiding with your thoughts
That you always kept inside.
Will the wilting weight be lifted and the darkness turn to light.

Well its difficult to see,
When behold the lock and key.
And tell me who was there
to get you through this.
You'll get through this
on your own, on your own.

So far from home, from all you've known.
Well it ain't over til its over.
So far to go, with nothing to show.
But it ain't over til its over.

[Solo]

And oh, it's a lonely fall
But you pick up when you hit the ground.
And oh, what you're given you must take
You're on your way,

You're on your way

So far from home, from all you've known
Well it ain't over til its over
So far to go, with nothing to show
It's not over (its not over til its over).
It's not over.
