Take another look outside
You're lying awake on a stormy night
You never felt like this before
It's only the world knocking at your door

And you see
Yes you'll see that its

Too late, Too late now
Yes its too late to say what you need to say now
Forever

Take another look around
Everyone's watching you hit the ground
With your head up high
You think that it's only a matter of time
But you'll see
Yes you'll see that it's

Too late, too late now
Yes its too late to say what you need to say now
Forever, it's too late forever

And it's too late now
Yes it's too late to say what you need to say now
Forever
And it's too late, it's too late now
Yes it's too late to say what you need to say now
Forever
