

Jonathan Miller "Prime Disposition"

Visit "Prime Disposition" on MotoLyrics.com

I don't know you
Like a shadow in the darkness
I'm confused
Why your pain do you let loose on this?
Now somehow I'm forced to fight a pointless war
Far was the ground, but now I'm broken on the floor

The end of story? No one can say
A mystery with no one to blame
I am an eagle that flies to display
That my Prime Disposition has changed

Truths divided
I was the one who turned my back
Once united
But now we're both under attack
I have changed my heart is an open sore
But we need to stop the violence, that's for sure

Is it the end of story? No one can say
A mystery with no one to blame
I am an eagle that flies to display
That my Prime Disposition has changed

You hurt me I was innocent
I don't know how my wounds could ever mend
But I know somehow I will overcome
Cuz it's up to me to say who won

So if it's the end of a story, no one but I can say
A mystery with no one to blame
I am an eagle that flies to display
That my Prime Disposition has changed

The end of a story, no one but I can say
A mystery with no one to blame
I am an eagle that flies to display
That my Prime Disposition has changed

Visit Jonathan Miller page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

