It's a Saturday mornin
I looked up in the sky it's a beautiful day Thinkin I should take the car for a wash Maybe later a drive to go fill my eyes That's right when I took a right on love and chance I saw you standin in ur b-girl stance and at first glance
I want to get to know you but I couldn't figure out how to approach you

That why I ridethru with the windows half mast Feelin cop looking thru the tinted glass Hopin that u don't see me as im watchin u every day im comin drivin thru
I come thru with the system on blast
Leanin back lookin thru the tinted glass Hopin that u don't see me while im watchin u
every day im comin drivin thru

damn girl u got me feelin like a stalker but ever since my ex I aint been much of a talker so maybe to the game ive been sorta of a stranger and kinda blind to the danger with the knot u got around ur finger
I could be bold and go head knock on ur door But if I do I don't know who I be askin for Plus we didn't exchange names and i aint got my confidence back Enough to take me in play
So ive been forced to admire u from a distance but as time goes by u move get high on my wish list so ill just settle for a glimpse coz it couldn't hurt and plus its worth the risk

I ridethru with the windows half mast
Feelin cop looking thru the tinted glass
Hopin that u don't see me as im watchin u
every day im comin drivin thru
I come thru with the system on blast
Leanin back lookin thru the tinted glass
Hopin that u don't see me while im watchin u
every day im comin drivin thru
and maybe one day

things will change with u and me and u know someday will stop by and work up the nerve just to come say hi but what if she turned out to be something I don't like or im not attached I rather keep her as a perfect girl in my mind
