You said you miss me so, Its time to come Home
Im tired of falling, and feeling alone
In the car, just singing and killing the time
So I'm writing and hoping that you'll be around
Long enough just to call me, and Ill hear the sound
Of the phone, and I'm praying its you on the line

Now I'm driving home at 2 am
And I'm thinking of ways to see you again
My hands on the wheel, my hearts in the clouds
And I'm tempted to turn this car around

Cause My heart beats at the sound of your voice and
The touch of your hands when you hold mine in yours
Its just you, and I, on top of this city tonight
And I'm losing my heart, one word at a time
And I'm counting the streetlights,
Oh how they remind me of you,
I'll be home in your arms tonight

Now I'm dreaming and driving down I-26
And I'm dialing your number
Cause God knows I've missed you tonight
And I'm counting down the miles on the signs
'Till I hear the waves, see the lights in your eyes like
The first constellations we traced in the skies
I'll be there, connecting your heart to mine

Now I'm driving home at 2 am
And I'm thinking of ways to see you again
My hands on the wheel, my hearts in the clouds
And I'm tempted to turn this car around

Cause My heart beats at the sound of your voice and
The touch of your hands when you hold mine in yours
Its just you, and I, on top of this city tonight
And I'm losing my heart, one word at a time
And I'm counting the streetlights,
Oh how they remind me of you,
I'll be home in your arms tonight

Constellations, Constellations,

I see them in your eyes
Constellations, Constellations,
Connect your heart to mine
Constellations, Constellations,
I see them in your eyes
Constellations, Constellations,
Connect your heart to mine

I'm losing my heart, one word at a time
And I'm counting the streetlights,
Oh how they remind me of you,
I'll be home in your arms tonight
