i've got a story for you sit down and listen please it is my life in review she ment everything to me this is a story a story called lemonade

15 years ago, i just turned 65, my wife was my side touring the country side id wake up every morning and ask how much is it today shed turned and smile and say that price will never change 42 years old 2 kids and a morgaged home,my life was flying by all work no play was the way i go but still i find time take her hand in mine a nickel a day is all i pay just for the sake of old time the sake of old time

hand in mine as we combined to find out what this life is marry me marry me ill ask in the nicest way so you and me become a we for the rest of our day the rest of our days

23 gone by having the time of my life i said i do she said it to and we became man and wife walking down the aisle i had a chest shy grin move over cloud 9 new neighbors moving in

hand in mine as we combined to find out what this life

i was only 6 years old that summbur so long ago i still remeber the flower she wore in her hair it was on the right side which ment i had a chance with her step by step street by street with my money in hand each night i made my journey to her lemonade stand

Shy at first but gaining courage as i neared i softly cleared my throat to cover up my nervous fear and she'd say 5 cents please is all you have to pay is there anything else i can do for you today

hand in mine as we combined to find out what this life
and me become a we for the rest of our day the rest of

I still have trouble every morning looking down at her grey we were so close for so long but i can never find the right words to say so i do this single thing that has become routine with me take a nickel from my pocket get down on one knee

hand in mine as we combined to find out what this life

story a story called lemonade
