[Just Jack]

Well if my words were spray cans
You'd see a billion different colours all across these
walls
And I just wanna make my mark
Yeah I just wanna blaze one spark
Before my maker, before my maker calls

[Kid Rad]

They say that every cloud will have a silver lining
But right now it's pissing down and I can't seem to find it
It's all in the distance now and I've been left behind it Left behind my dreams to stay here and nine to five it And friends are moving on and growing up so I'm reminding Myself and reminiscing back on all them different times when
Best friends were not strangers I could recognize them We're so divided and different nowadays we can't stop fighting
But if I had a chance to stay here and live life how I should
Or blaze a spark and sacrifice my whole life then I would
I need to make my mark but don't get it twisted or misunderstood
Cause I still represent the people that have told me I could Get away from everything and I ain't sayin I'm poor
I'm sayin I'm playin my cards until I'm makin a score Forget crime if i got knocked couldn't complain at all Cause we can change the way we live but we can't change the law

[Just Jack]

Well if my words were spray cans
You'd see a billion different colours all across these
walls
And I just wanna make my mark
Yeah I just wanna blaze one spark
Before my maker, before my maker calls

[Kid Rad]

And this is my life, but is it my time?
Chasin this high life, it takes a lifetime
My worlds spinnin while I'm thinkin with this rife mind Wishin for an angel to appear and give a life line Walkin aimless acting shameless every nighttime People say I'm brainless never see me in the right light
I guess it's my fault, cause I ain't a nice guy Always lookin in no bigger picture in my eyesight
And it feels like it's punishment to me
Cause none of these guys show encouragement to me
They'll be lookin to the side when I flourish and succeed
But for now I keep my head down, lookin for a lead Cause I know inside my heart, I got somethin to achieve,
But, nowadays man I struggle to believe Tryna juggle all my stress, I feel puzzled and depressed
Runnin out of air to breathe while I'm runnin from this mess

[Just Jack]

Well if my words were spray cans
You'd see a billion different colours all across these
walls
And I just wanna make my mark
Yeah I just wanna blaze one spark
Before my maker, before my maker calls

[Kid Rad]

I'm only seventeen so ofcourse I've got the energy
And everybodies tellin me I've got my life ahead of me
A whole path to travel in this world that's what they're tellin me
A whole life to live until you pour a little henneseey
But I don't want another day to pass feelin average Cause before you know it everybody says your past it I'm in my prime now i've got the spark I need to cast it So when I do go the words I spoke stay everlasting, now sing

[Just Jack]

Well if my words were spray cans
You'd see a billion different colours all across these
walls
And I just wanna make my mark
Yeah I just wanna blaze one spark
Before my maker, before my maker calls
