I said hello were are you from
And what is wrong, what's wrong
Is it what we have become
And what we've done
What we didn't do to get things undone
The truth was sacrificed
While we tried, while we tried to work it all out
Now I need a place to hide
I lied, I lied to you baby that's right

I refuse to breakdown
I won't cry, I won't cry
How come I never fall in love
I wonder why, I really wonder why
The plan I had for my life
It seemed so right
I thought I had it all figured out
Now I need a place to hide
Cause I lied, I lied to myself that's right

Here in my hideout in the shades
I go insane, It feels like I'm going insane
I call upon winds, I call upon rain
You know I hate, I hate to lose
Though I know it's pretty cool
I know that time, time will heal all my wounds
Pretend that everythings alright
But I lied, I lied to you all

I said hello were are you from
And what is wrong, what's wrong
Is it what we have become
And what we've done
And What we didn't do to get things undone
The plan I had for my life
It seemed so right
How come I never fall in love
I refuse to breakdown
