I LOST COUNT OF THE STARS

Â© Electric Babylon Music Author: M.M.

I lost count of the stars, when I looked into the galaxy of your eyes, I lost step with the crowd, when I walked with you in my step, I lost count of the stars, and heavens future was your kiss, I lost touch with my pain, as we fell into a conflagration of euphoria.
Sister of beauty sweet child of wonder, is that your breath that deals the air, you are my soul, my body's earth.
I lost count of the stars, when you moved like a comet across the face of the deep, I lost count of the stars, as you passed your hand across my being, I lost count of the stars, when I saw the silhouette of your prolific curves, I lost count of the stars, when you whispered like a sage into my ear.
Beyond everything that shadows a world, she is the real light that breeds color, in this fountainhead of love, we are consumed in perfection, she lends grace to the hand of the muse, and beauty to the page of the poet, I know her when she calls me, her voice is rain.
I lost count of the stars, when the universe capsized into the ocean of your love.
