LIMBO

Â© Electric Babylon Music Author: M.M.

So ok I guess you win because IÂ’ve had enough, I knew you were cheating but I was a fool to call your bluff, hello again world give me freedom tonight, if my luck holds out I wont be around to see the morning light, this sorrow has kissed me full on the lips, who ever thought such a hard fall could come from a few subtle slips, IÂ’m all I know and nothing in the face of things, I saw the slight of hand in the magic and the awful smile it brings, all these questions make me fill like a wrong answer, all these elegant dancers make me fill like a lame dancer, if yesterday could just stay there and today could be history, then maybe tomorrow could put an end to this mystery, but something has to die in the name of progress, all this complacency is just the surface of the distress, but every fools paradise is a wise mans hell, but only the fools care to tell the tale, so let this be my duty and my new wife, if I cant make a living IÂ’ll make a killing from this life.
Nice guys finish last if they can even finish at all, youÂ’ve got to have a strong stomach and less of a walk than a crawl, you donÂ’t give up you just lose your taste for trying, you lose your will for life and grow a fear for dying, so many years ago when I was a child, the stars were haunting and the world was wild, but now I haunt these streets just like a ghost, god is just the haunted as I wonder thru the host, who in his right mind would ever admit he was in hie right mind, the shame is so well hidden but the shameless pride is easy to find, you can't solve the problem with another problem but who knows, if your gonna throw away the thorn you might as well throw away the rose, and here I am stuck in the middle of right and wrong, I know I've got to wait I just don't know how long, I must have caused this effect in some kind of way, you change the past you cant touch the future and you cant live today.
