MISSING LINK

Â© Electric Babylon Music Author: M.M.

You better wash them bones real good, till there all shiny white, I wonder if you could , give me some day for night, are you puzzled by this strange design, do you believe in the power of reason, can we change this water to wine, can we sell it out of season.
Never act before you think, body and mind what's the
missing link,
You better test that answer first, or the question might be wrong, oh I swear this charm is cursed, but it couldn't last for long, come join the great debate, throw another house on the fire, tomorrow is always to late, ah the truth is such a liar.
Science and religion oh what a stink, god and man what's the missing
link.
You better try hard to just be you, you better try harder to understand me, there are so many things we could do, just imagine what we could be, but it's not so easily done, and there aint no reason why, living just aint that much fun, when you know you've got to die.
At times we feel like were on the brink, spirit and flesh
link.
